The nojohr class covers a realm of curious facets. They are exceptionally combat strong, but are also magically inclined when it comes to location or realm understanding. In addition, nojohrs have some mystical connection with the skies, particularly with lightning. It is rumored the nojohr connection with lightning is an amplified focus of their magical realm powers.

Little is known about how nojohrs formed their connection with the skies, nor the extent to which their power extend. However, some nojohr, a very select few, have moved their powers beyond the skies and into the heavens. With this increased connection, they have tapped into the powers of fate directly.

On the combat front, nojohrs are exceptionally combat strategic. Wielding both offensive and defensive tactics. The nojohr have been found to adapt to many combat situations, leaving a less careful, less prepared opponent, completely outclassed.
