

Gargoyle

Written by Serenity

Tuesday, 08 January 2008 02:01 - Last Updated Tuesday, 08 January 2008 20:04

The ancient defender. Gargoyles have been around since the beginning of time itself, and have chosen the life of protecting the innocent. While these stone-like creatures are natural defenders, they are also natural killers.

At times, usually surprising even the Gargoyle itself, these great beasts unleash a blistering attack dubbed the "Gargoyle's Fury." Based on the power of the beasts will, this fury can be quite deadly in aged and learned Gargoyles.

Born with mighty wings, the Gargoyle learns at a young age not only to fly, but also that their wings serve them well in combat. Also being beasts of pure strength, they are able to occasionally strike an opponent with colossal power.

While the stone-skin of the Gargoyle protects them from fire and physical attacks, it also makes them fully vulnerable to the power of magic. Gargoyles grow to be Onyx Protectors and eventually into the Obsidian Guardian. While Gargoyles gain incredible quickness bonuses and natural resistance bonuses, they are not recommended for those new to the realm of Nodeka.