The Gnomes are known across the land, to be the only race that overpowers the mind of the Drake. Although Gnomes are physically inadequate to almost any race, there is no race that is mentally stronger than the Gnome. Gnomes have unbelievable resistance to magical attacks and what is considered to be almost ridiculous recuperation of magical energy. As Gnomes have found strength in their mind, they have developed a keen sense of psychic energy which will strike back at any opponent who is foolish enough to underestimate their power simply because they lack physical size. Gnomes are naturally learners, and excel in their chosen profession almost as fast as Humans. Gnomes can first advance to become Minois and, through proper training, can become one of the admired, Svirfneblin. Stories have been told that the willpower of the Gnome, is rivaled by none.
