The jerof breed is a difficult one to describe. They are known as outstanding spiritual fighters. This would explain their uncanny levels of accuracy and mental concentration. The jerof have strong minds and are dexterous in a way that is rarely seen.

While humanoid, the jerof are considered a sister race of the weretiger. There seems to be some bond between the two races, although nothing is concretely known about their relationship to one another.

The jerof are not predators, nor are they prey. They are warriors, with an inclination towards spiritual growth.
