

Onillin

Written by Serenity

Tuesday, 08 January 2008 14:39 -

The time benders. The onillin's origin is as clouded as the gaa'el's. One thing is clear, the onillin have warred with the gaa'el for hundreds, if not thousands of years. These two warring races perhaps were born from the same breed. Legend tells that they diverged and different traits were born from them.

The onillin are a winged humanoid. Yet, their wings do not grant them flight, only attack. It has been said that the onillin's winged attack is superior to that of any other race. These winged creatures are willed, quick and agile.

But it is not their wings that make them so unique, it is their ability to alter time. Little is known of this power, except that the onillin have been known to perform actions in speed that is impossible for any, but themselves.

A strange and curious race ...